Thanks to Colleen Erickson

Just like a symphony orchestra needs a great conductor, an art exhibit needs a sensitive hand to make the show look its best. For our annual Weatherford Art Association Members Exhibit, those hands belong to Colleen Erickson, who has been hanging our annual members show for many years at the UNT Health Science Center. This year over 70 artworks are on display Monday through Friday from 8-5 in the 1st floor atrium, of the Everett EAD Building, at the corner of Montgomery Street and Camp Bowie Boulevard. Colleen coordinates everything with Shea Patterson Young, the Curator of the Atrium Gallery, as well as printing name plates and tagging all the artwork.

She makes a daunting task seem easy and enjoys having this great venue for WAA artwork in the center of the Fort Worth Cultural District. Per Colleen, "Hundreds of people flow through the from December 5th through January 13th.
